An Attitude of Gratitude

Every year Americans gather with family and friends on the fourth Thursday in November to celebrate Thanksgiving. This holiday reminds us to count our blessings and give thanks for them.

When expressing thanks, our loved ones come to mind almost immediately. That would probably be followed by gratitude for our good health and wellbeing.

The true spirit of Thanksgiving should be with us every day. Gratitude can easily get lost in our daily lives and especially in this hectic season. Let's take time today to be aware of the less obvious blessings which we too easily overlook.

With Thanks!
Each day I am keenly aware of the blessings that each of my staff members bring to our workplace. They come with unique gifts, talents, and personalities. With their expertise and meticulous effort they create beautiful custom products to grace many homes.

Everyday Gratitude

I am grateful for . . .

- the talented designers who entrust their projects to us because it gives us purpose.
- the complaining I hear about our government because it means we have freedom of speech.
- the clothes that fit a little too snugly because it means I have enough to eat.
- the shadow that follows me because it means I'm out in the sunshine.
- the spot I find at the far end of the parking lot because it means I am capable of walking.
- the taxes I pay because it means that I am employed.
- spellcheck, just because.

What are you grateful for today?

Where the ordinary becomes extraordinary
